WILSON IN CHALLENGE FOR PROBE OF POLICE; NEW O'BRIEN CHARGES

While Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson today defied District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien to investigate the police department, the latter continued his verbal broadsides, citing cases of alleged inefficiency and lack of system.

Commissioner Wilson said he would throw open the door of the police department to investigators if there is an investigation, but "I want to see the investigation first."

The commissioner's ally, District Attorney O'Brien, said he had had a "very serious" conference with him today and that he had "very seriously" considered the possibility of "a very serious" investigation of the police department.

Another challenge of the District Attorney, the commissioner said, "I don't care what O'Brien says. He is responsible for the statements he makes, not I. I will not allow myself to be misled."

'HANGING PROSECUTOR' AND TWO OTHERS SLAIN BY CHICAGO GANGSTERS

Chicago, April 23.—William H. McSwiggan, youthful Assistant State's Attorney, known as "the hanging prosecutor" because of his zeal in conducting criminal trials, was slain early today in a blast of machine gun fire poured by gangsters into an automobile in which he and three other men were riding.

Two of his companions also were killed. They were James J. Doherty, reputed leader of beer runners of Cicero, a suburb, and Thomas Duffy, owner of a saloon.

The blast of fire came from an apartment house on Madison street in Chicago, and the car was driven into the street.

John Edgar, veteran captain of detectives, said that the assistant prosecutor was marked for death because of his prosecution of John Roselli and Albert Anselmi, Genoa gangsters, under sentence to 14 years in prison for the slaying of two policemen.

"The word was passed along the line that it was on his way to Cicero, and plans to get him were quickly made," Captain Edgar asserted.

ARREST SENATE CLERK AND WOMAN IN AUTO

William H. Ronger, 44, of Cambridge, clerk of the State Senate since 1922, and Mrs. Florence Murray, 40, of an obscure street, Dorchester, were arrested by Weston police in an automobile on Central avenue, Weston, today.

Ronger was charged with drunkenness and Mrs. Murray with drunkenness and operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. His case was continued.

Patrolman Hagar and Upland made the arrests after a long chase.

FOUR ACCUSED IN $25,000 COFFEE THEFT

Three Boston men and a Lynn man were arrested today in connection with a alleged theft of $25,000 worth of coffee during the past 12 months from the Chase & Sanborn warehouse in Broad street.

Watching from a loft where he was in hiding, Patrolman Walter Illingworth trapped two of them in the act of loading 300 pounds of coffee into an unmarked looking car, according to the police.

The arrest of the men, police say, clears up the mystery of the wholesale theft and distribution among several Greater Boston stockholders.

CHICAGO'S 'HANGING PROSECUTOR' FALLS BEFORE GANGSTER'S BLAZING MACHINE GUN

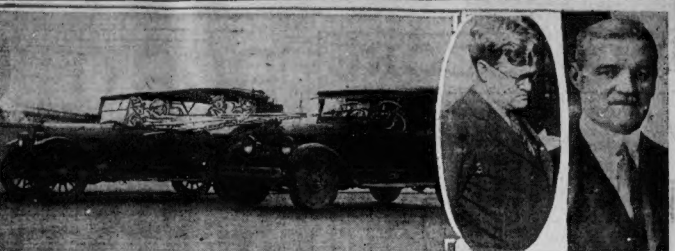

AND SO THIS IS CICERO!
That's what dancing Duncan sisters said after being beaten up by Cicero cops a few years ago. Here's one of sisters as she looked after encounter in Chicago's lawless suburb.

HOW GANG SPRAYED DEATH
Photo shows how gun was mounted in auto when gangsters killed Chicago's "hanging prosecutor" and two friends early today. Cold-blooded crime has stirred whole district.

SCENE OF KILLING
Map shows Cicero, hectic Chicago suburb, where tragedy was staged. Until today it was known as "city without a law."

FLAMING VENGEANCE OF UNDERWORLD!
Photo-diagram graphically shows how Assistant State's Attorney William H. McSwiggin of Chicago was slain by machine gun in gangsters' auto. He was ambushed on road to Cicero, while riding with friends. Two of latter also were killed. (Photos by I. N. R.)

ed in Cicero, Chicago, and Cook County jails shortly after the drive to round up the slayers was launched.

233 SUSPECTS REIZED.

While arrangements for a conference of police and state officials were being made, the Chicago police department was busy rounding up suspects. More than 233 suspects had been taken into custody up to this afternoon.

Seven thousand police, deputy sheriffs and State's Attorney's aides are patrolling highways in motor cars and on horseback, ordered to arrest every suspicious character they meet. This army is conducting the greatest drive on gangland in the history of Chicago.

Attorney Crowe, backed by an aroused sentiment of women's clubs and men's civic organizations, is in active charge of the campaign.

Cicero, for the first time in its history, was taken over by county officers and police of Chicago. The officers were given special powers to make arrests anywhere in Cook County.

From the days before the Duncan sisters were "beaten up" by Cicero cops, the city has been a lawless place. William B. Davis testified before the United States Senate in Washington that Cicero was one of the plague spots which Chicago could not touch, the slayers had been a law unto themselves.

SPRAYED WITH BULLETS.
Three men who found Duffy lying mortally wounded near the scene of the shooting were held for further questioning.

McSwiggin and his companions were driving toward Chicago, when the car which had been following them drew alongside to place the machine gun in range.

After the first volley the occupants of the attacked car dashed their machine and as they ran away were sprayed with bullets. Three of them fell. The others ran back to the car and sped away.

A mile and a half from the scene of the shooting the bodies of McSwiggin and Duffy were later found. The fate of the fourth member of the McSwiggin party still remains a mystery. The automobile in which he fled has not been found.

McSwiggin left his home last night with Duffy, telling relatives that he planned to go to the northwestern suburbs, for a game of cards. The two entered an auto and drove away.

their name, address and telephone number that they might be communicated with by phone.

While the declared "bagman" was in hiding, the Finance Commission announced that it would maintain a "hands off" policy in the graft probe, leaving the investigation to Attorney General J. P. O'Brien.

"The proper authorities are handling the matter," said Chairman Charles L. Clark. "What evidence the State and county secure will go to the courts and they should be able to handle the case."

Every bus permit granted by the present City Council is under investigation, and officials of both State and county are probing deep into the accusations made by Leo J. Conway in his charge that he was "bought up" for $1,500 for a bus license.

The evidence now being collected Attorney General J. P. O'Brien said, "will be submitted to the grand jury of the Suffolk County Grand Jury."

City Clerk George P. W. H. of Ward 12, Dorchester, who also today to comment on the graft charge, said:

"They are ridiculous. I don't know anything about it."

Councillor Frederic D. Dowling of Ward 21, Alton, said: "A great humbug day. Great day for the graft. I'll go out and sit in the sun."

100 Shots a Minute From Gang's Machine Gun

CHICAGO, April 23 (I.N.S.).—Gangsters of Chicago have taken to the machine gun as their war weapon.

The McSwiggin killing was the third "attack" within two weeks in which auto-mounted machine guns have been used.

The machine gun adopted by the gangsters is a Thompson sub-machine gun, a light weapon—15 weighs about 40 pounds. It has a combined rifle and pistol grip. It will fire approximately 100 to 125 shots a minute and can be reloaded with 100-cartridge drum in 30 seconds.

It sprays and at reasonably close range the intended victim has almost no chance.

Guns, drums and cartridges can be purchased in a number of places in Chicago.

tioned no particular person in the police department who needed investigation. I said the department as a whole needed it.

"Boston is protected by a large number of cops but very few police men. I don't think there are over 100 officers from the head of the department down who could be really depended upon as policemen."

"I say that the Governor should appoint a group of men trained in police work and who understand it from A to Z to investigate the Boston police department."

"The department needs to be systematized. We need more than records and reports of crimes to prosecute."

"Citing specifically what he called shortcomings of the department, District Attorney O'Brien said:

"Let's find out why the Boston Police Department has not a real fingerprint system. Let's find out why it is necessary to wait twenty-five minutes for a police station when an inquiry is sent to police headquarters asking if a man is wanted in our city for a crime."

HITS 'STREET WIGGERS.'
Let's find out why it is impossible to get a record of a person wanted for a crime after 6:30 or 7 o'clock at night."

Let's find out why police detectives have to use a street car to get to the scene of a crime."

Many police officers are so untrained, he said, that they are unable to make out a complaint in court properly.

"The 'stool pigeon' system used on police also causes in for a scathing denunciation."

Referring to the practice of "having a man tour the city at night looking for some police officer who may be in a doorway taking a smoke," the district attorney said: "There are police working in streets at night who spend more time looking for their detective officers than they spend looking for criminals."

After reiterating the statement that he is attacking no officer or official, the district attorney added: "A civil engineer is at present at the head of the Boston police department. The superintendent is a man who rose from the ranks. Does the civil engineer who heads the police department understand police business in the sense that police work is understood by the people?"

"Now, let's go down the line and see if the police department hasn't made some errors. If it has, let's remedy these errors and put the department on a firm footing."

Vanished Girl Found 'In Cog' In Newburyport Factory

South Boston Usher Is United With Mother After Her Flight of Six Days

Fifteen-year-old Dorothy Carrigan, South Boston beauty, who has been missing from home for six days, was found today in Newburyport through her photograph, published in the Boston Evening American.

Mrs. James Haley, Newburyport housekeeper where the girl stayed a room before procuring employment, recognized the picture as that of the "Dorothy McKee" reading her house.

The police were notified, Dorothy's mother was called from Boston and mother and daughter, reunited, returned to South Boston by automobile.

POLICE HUNTED KIDNAPER

Pretty Dorothy, an usher in a theatre, left her home at No. 122 M street, South Boston, last Thursday, apparently on her way to the playhouse.

She did report for work, however, and because the girl had taken a party dress and a pair of dainty silver slippers with her, the mother believed her daughter had sneaked, at last, the call of the footlights had also been declared here.

Police were inclined to differ with the mother, holding the theory that her beauty had decided some man into abducting her and holding her prisoner.

PICTURE RECOGNIZED

Dorothy, however, had gone to Newburyport, where she stayed one night at the Y. W. C. A. as Dorothy McKee. Then she transferred to the house kept by Mrs. Haley at No. 67 Prospect street.

The girl next procured employment at Peter's shoe factory in Merrimack street and was at work today when Mrs. Haley, coming upon the photograph in the Boston Evening American, recognized it as that of the youthful "Dorothy McKee."

The "expose" followed and then came the reunion.

GUARDS SEIZE RIM BOATS AT NANTASKET

Federal coast guard and customs officers are searching for members of a rum-smuggling gang today in the coastal guard picket boat 2335 while attempting to land a large quantity of alcohol from speed boat off Gun Rock Cove, Nantasket, Mass.

At least a score of men swamped in two powerful motor cars when Chief Postmaster's Mate Hannon and another officers landed on the shore. They seized fifty gallons of alcohol, the large sedan automobile and three doors abandoned by the smugglers in their flight.

The speedy rum-running motor craft without visible means of registration escaped to sea under cover of the early morning fog.

Coast Guard officers say the unloading was in progress as the 2335 slid silently into the cove. The three motor cars were parked close by the shore. Cases of alcohol were being taken from the doors to the cars.

In their haste to escape as the Federal men neared the beach the smugglers were unable to start one of the motor cars. Some of the seized liquor was found in this car and the balance in the doors.

"PERMANENT WAVE" IN COURT DEMONSTRATION

Hartford, Conn., April 28 (A.P.)—A jury in court here today was shown just how to give a "permanent wave" to two women going through all the motions of the process in a suit of Miss Mabel's head that was burned.

Miss Estelle Woolfson, the plaintiff, looking "2,000" damages, claims she was badly burned while having her hair waved. The defense claims that if Miss Woolfson was injured it was merely a blister on her head for which the plaintiff is "5 blame because of her actions during the waving. A specialist testified that "half would ever grow on the portion of Miss Woolfson's head that was burned."

SHOWERS DUE IN HUB, THEN SUN WILL RETURN

Showers today and probably to night with fair weather tomorrow is the prediction of the local bureau for thirty-six hours. The current cloudy sky reflect an area of low barometric pressure centered in Ontario, which is expected, will pass to sea tonight.

A cold wave in Kansas will affect the mercury here within the next twelve hours, but the weather bureau does not look for a serious fall in temperature. Storm signals in the face of southwest winds were ordered today from Delaware Breakwater to Boston, with the probability that they will fly as far north as Maine before dusk.

JUROR'S COLLAPSE HALTS GRAFT TRIAL

Although a sick juror endeavored to push his plunk to the limit and go through the session, he finally collapsed, and the trial of Mayor John J. Donovan and six other alleged city officials was adjourned today until tomorrow.

Juror Clifford Lidian of Belmont has been suffering from the grip, but insisted he was able to take his place. Eight government witnesses were sworn in and Charles P. Conant had taken the stand when Lidian collapsed.

Attorney-General J. W. Benton is in Washington attending a conference of the National Crime Commission. On Thursday he will appear before the war claims committee of the National House to urge the passage of Senate Bill No. 1, which provides for reimbursement of $125,000 to Massachusetts covering Civil War interest claims.

CHURCH BURNS IN MARLBORO; $50,000 LOSS

Marlboro, April 28.—The entire business section of this city was threatened today when a fire swept through the First Baptist Church, causing damages estimated at $50,000.

The church was the heaviest sufferer, its $10,000 organ being ruined. C. D. Simmons company, women's garments, 125 W. C. Main, and a furniture store, whose stores were on the street floor, lost practically their entire stock.

Three firemen, William C. Stearns, George H. Kenney and Michael Belmont, were trapped in the church auditorium when the roof fell and were carried out by comrades. They were cut and bruised and Stearns had a broken leg.

The fire is believed to have started in the rear of the Birmingham store. The entire apparatus of the city was called out and the firemen were given a stubborn battle, the roof of the church falling before the blaze was under control. The church people recently refused $40,000 for the property.

The Simmons company placed their loss at $15,000.

A new claimant for walking honors and for the record from Worcester to Boston, or vice versa, bobbed up today when Teddy Miller, 24-year-old Woburn mail clerk, claimed that he had hiked the Worcester to Boston course in 9 hours 45 minutes.

Miller, who lives in Campbell street, Woburn, left Worcester at 5 p. m. last night and arrived in Boston at 6:45 a. m. today.

The mail clerk was accompanied as far as Marlboro by an automobile and he ate chocolate bars on the way for sustenance.

Remark About Mussolini Was Rather Complimentary, a Boston Woman Asserts

Rome, April 29.—The Italian judicial authorities informed the American Consulate today that John A. Abbott of Boston must remain in jail until his formal interrogation on the charge of beating a guide and insulting Mussolini.

"Against the guide is a Fascist, and he located of the fact when my son slapped his face, which probably drew the riot from my son. I hope your chief isn't like you." It was really something like that which brought forth the charges.

The charges made against my son are absurd," Mrs. Abbott told the International News Service. "My son speaks Italian imperfectly, and the guide who attacked him did not know English."

"It was a private dispute, which they are trying to color politically," she said. "The guide is a Fascist, and he located of the fact when my son slapped his face, which probably drew the riot from my son. I hope your chief isn't like you." It was really something like that which brought forth the charges.

The charges made against my son are absurd," Mrs. Abbott told the International News Service. "My son speaks Italian imperfectly, and the guide who attacked him did not know English."

"It was a private dispute, which they are trying to color politically," she said. "The guide is a Fascist, and he located of the fact when my son slapped his face, which probably drew the riot from my son. I hope your chief isn't like you." It was really something like that which brought forth the charges.

2 ADRIFF 24 HOURS AT SEA IN DORY

"Joaquin" and "Joe," two hardy members of the crew of the fishing schooner Edith Rose and believed to have been lost in a fog at La Jolla, N. S., were picked up by a rescuer. It was reported today from Halifax, N. S., where they were landed.

The men, Joaquin Augustus and Hyacinth Brand, both of Gloucester, were adrift twenty-four hours in an open dory before being picked up by the steamship Afghanistan.

CIRCUS FREAK FRIENDS ATTEND "ZIP" FUNERAL

New York, April 28 (A.P.)—Zip, the negro, famous as the "Wash-127" of Barnum and Ringling sideshows, was buried today.

His funeral was one of the curious ones so long had thronged the places where he was exhibited, there being in attendance a crowd of his real friends of the circus who knew him as William Henry Johnson and loved him for his unassuming manners.

Zip died in Bellevue Hospital of pneumonia, aggravated by his advanced age, said to be eighty years.

The funeral service of the Free Presbyterian Church was held over his body in private funeral parlors and burial was in Mount Brook, N. Y., in a cemetery near the main drive Zip by Barnum.

Among those at the funeral were: William Henry Johnson, a well-known circus clown, and Gus Brechman, human claw hammer, or the man with the iron jaw.

BOY SENTENCED TO JAIL IN AUTO THEFT CASE

Edward Fennely, 18 years old, of West 10th street, Boston, was sentenced to sixteen months in the House of Correction by Judge William J. Day of South Boston Circuit Court today, charged with larceny of an automobile. Fennely, so as to endanger lives, not stopping on command of a police officer, was driving without a license.

In the same court Edward E. Seufert, 22 years old, of Willowbrook street, Brighton, was fined $100 for driving under the influence of liquor and the drunkenness charge was placed on file. He appealed.

CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL HAS 19,000 PATIENTS

A total of 5,218 patients were treated in the Children's Hospital in the last year and 13,325 more received treatment under the annual report, issued today, shows.

The coverage was 132 in hospital beds and an average of 140 patients a week were made to others in their homes. The 13,000 children benefited were all under twelve years of age and of every creed. The total exceeds last year's by more than 1,000, difficult to say, not to an increase in disease, but to a widened scope of work.

CONSECRATES McAULIFFE AS BISHOP

Hartford, Ct., April 28 (A.P.)—Bishop McLaughlin, president of the American Bishops' Conference, today consecrated as auxiliary bishop of the diocese of Hartford in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Cathedral today.

There were in attendance thirteen bishops with their retinues, several hundred priests of the diocese, many clergy from other dioceses and probably 1,000 of the laity.

Bishop McLaughlin, first son of Hartford to be elevated to the bishopric, became auxiliary bishop to Bishop John J. Niles in succession to John Gregory Murray, recently consecrated bishop of Portland, Me.

The consecration today was on the sixteenth anniversary of the elevation of Bishop Niles, a priest of Amesbury, Mass.

The sermon was delivered by Right Rev. Thomas J. Shahan, rector of the Cathedral cathedral at Washington.

FREE 2 IN QUINN TRIAL IN U. S. COURT

William Miller and Joseph Stein, both of Chicago, defendants in the Swampscott rum contraband case in Federal Court, were found not guilty and freed today because of insufficient evidence to connect them with the alleged plot for which former Chief of Police Quinn of Swampscott and others are on trial.

After announcing the government had finished its presentation of evidence against the men, who were charged with smuggling liquor ashore at Little's Point, Assistant District Attorney Edward H. Hale told the court evidence was lacking against the two Chicago men.

As Miller and Stein left the courtroom they were openly congratulated by Harry Brown of Lynn and Patrick A. McDonnell of Boston, two of the defendants, who stood up and shook hands with them.

The defense opened with Attorney Joseph J. Hurley, counsel for Quinn, telling the jury that he would show the difficulties confronting the government chief because of the long shore line.

HERO PENSIONS THE ONLY SURE RELIEF

By ALLEN R. FREDERICK
The Camp-Thorne-Boston Evening American hero pension bill meets a long-felt need. In my opinion there has been too little public recognition of the sacrifice made by policemen and firemen who die in the line of duty.

Such a law as that proposed would convince the community and dependents of men killed while guarding life and property, that the community had proper regard for their identity and courage and that they had not made the supreme sacrifice in vain.

This spirit of appreciation would estimate the morale of two public safety departments which are such big factors in our every day life.

DEMERITORIOUS MEASURE.
The measure is meritorious and necessary. I trust the legislature will see its way clear to pass the bill at this session. If by any chance it fails to, I am confident the measure will pass with flying colors next year. The only possible obstacle to such a worthy bill would be lack of time.

I had first-hand experience with cases of this type. I served on the committee that handled the $24,000 fund raised by the Boston Evening American for the widow and nine children of Patrolman Andrew E. Cuneo of the Hanover street station, who was shot dead in the street by a semiautomatic on August 13, 1921.

That fund, the largest and most spontaneous ever raised in New England by popular subscription, all within a month, was placed in trust for Mrs. Cuneo and her children.

I would like to see all cases of employees, public and private, protected by pension to the fullest extent, and I feel that members of police and fire departments are special cases and should receive special consideration at least those of them who fall in the line of duty.

In other occupations men are permitted to exercise care to avoid danger, but in the case of the daily routine of the policeman and fireman, and in emergency he is expected to face danger regardless of the consequences.

He Approves

ALLEN R. FREDERICK who served on committee which raised a fund of $24,000 for Patrolman Cuneo's family, says the Casey-Thorne-Boston American Hero Pension bill is the surest and most satisfactory method of compensating dependents.

PASSAGE STRIKE NEARS SETTLEMENT TODAY

Passaic, N. J., April 28 (A.P.)—With special deputies they have patrolled the streets withdrawn, Passaic today awaited action by Governor Moore toward ending the strike that has kept 3,000 textile workers idle for fourteen weeks. Action by the Governor was expected as a consequence of Albert Weisbord's agreement to withdraw as a direct negotiator after two members of the Governor's mediation board to whom he had assigned had agreed to withdraw. The two members were Harry F. Miller, general counsel for the American Federation of Labor, and Andrew F. McBride, State Labor Commissioner.

FLOOD IS RECEDING IN CONNECTICUT RIVER

Hartford, Ct., April 28 (A.P.)—The Connecticut River freer, having reached its highest mark of 21.5 feet yesterday, began to recede shortly after midnight and today had fallen to 19.4, with indications that the water will gradually flow back to its normal course unless heavy rains prevail. For twelve hours yesterday the freest stood at 20.3, with the exception of one period at 4 o'clock, when it rose slightly over 20.3.

about the British rubber trust that multiplies the normal price by four. We talk, and Mr. Hoover almost sheds tears. The Soviet government buys in South America enough rubber trees to plant a square mile, and will make experiments in rubber production. We think of Russia as filled with fur coats and wolves galloping after sheep, but they have every sort of climate, and if the Soviet managers continue to show the spirit of Peter the Great, and insist that Russia can produce everything, they will surprise our respectability most painfully.

THE NEW ORLEANS flying field is especially important, because of New Orleans' strategic position. An adequate flying field there, with the possibility of establishing a military air base in an emergency, would be of great importance to the protection of the Panama Canal. Mr. Raoul Jordan, editor of Action, describes most hopefully New Orleans' intense interest in aviation.

IT IS COMICAL—especially in the eyes of high finance—but it is true that this glorious republic, where a dollar rescues the respect to which it is entitled, can actually learn from Bolshevik Russia. We talk his books to thank, not the stock market.

HENRY FORD'S admirable series of letters, "The Great Today; the Greater Tomorrow," add to his permanent reputation, and to public enlightenment, every day. Mr. Croucher has rendered real public service in persuading Mr. Ford to collaborate on that work. Ford, as you were told in this column a year or two ago, is engaged in the intensive cheap production of linen. He says linen is now made as the Egyptians made it five thousand years ago, with hand looms, and very poor tools. Ford is using machinery, instead of hands, one machine and two men doing the work of ten men.

AGAIN FORD emphasizes the fact that cheap production does not mean cheap labor. It means well-paid labor, for high production means efficiency, efficiency means brains, and brains can't be hired on a sweat-shop basis.

THERE ARE many letters by wise men that are being read in the days of Teal's Hammen. These are laid in a Karpian manner. And they no longer hold up weight. In fact, the same names hold the beliefs. Some men with a few ounces of brains will find a substitute for bricks and will venture steel buildings in half the time at half the cost. Since labor is to be shut out of the United States, more and more machinery will have to take the place of men.

PENNELL ART WORKS WILL BE SHOWN

TOMORROW BRINGS TO ARTISTIC BOSTON WHAT everyone concedes is the sensation of the season—the showing, at the Robert C. Vose Galleries in Boylston street, of a splendidly representative collection of the works of Joseph Pennell, master of the etcher's needle.

ETCHINGS IN profusion will be there, some considered by the late master as his greatest. Also a godly showing of lithographs and lastly, and perhaps most important from the artist's standpoint, a comprehensive set of Pennell watercolors.

AS A WATERCOLORIST Pennell was, perhaps, less well known than as an etcher. The Vose collection, framed as Pennell himself commanded his watercolors should be framed, is remarkable. And impressions, every one, and depicting views such as the artist saw from his Brooklyn Heights apartment.

IN FACT, CHOICE bits are there in profusion—an etching of Pennell, done by Henry Ziegler and bearing the famous Pennell signature; also a superb etching, Pennell, done by Joseph Mangione, and a bit of the America so fast disappearing before modern progress, the old wooden bridge over the Bunkerhead River at Haverhill.

THE PENNELL WORKS at the Vose Galleries share attention with Miss Margaret Fishback's exhibition, now on its third day of supreme success. For the private view Miss Fishback was in a smart frock of midnight blue chiffon over the modish pattern. Fashion smiles on.

FOR THE PRIVATE view there was an outpouring of lith prints of the young artist, to the number of some three hundred. Mrs. Robert Lincoln O'Brien was of the throng, also Mr. and Mrs. T. Tucker Burr, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Curran, and others.

MISS FISHBACK'S SUMMER studio is a North Shore affair, inched on the Antiquarian Bluffs, where native lobstermen and beautiful shore vistas all are as fresh to her mill. The Winter workshop is

The Letters of Queen Victoria

Human Appeal in Private Documents of Greatest Woman Ruler

QUEEN VICTORIA AND PRINCE ALBERT

A statue by William Theed, R. A., at Windsor. In hundreds of the Queen's letters she refers to the Prince Consort. Even in death he is the oak on which she leans.

KNEELING at the bedside of her departed Prince Consort, praying with all her might for guidance in the terrible war that confronted England, Queen Victoria was led to write: "I never really realized the power of prayer till now."

She wrote prophetically. Just when the war clouds are hanging blackest over Europe, just when it seems England must be dragged into the German-Danish conflict and spread the conflagration across the continent, comes a providential solution that rejoices the heart of the "Queen of Peace."

Prayer brings what all her valiant battles of diplomacy have failed to win.

In today's instalment of "The Letters of Queen Victoria," which the Boston Evening American is publishing daily by authority of King George of England, the Queen finds herself caught between two fires.

My Beloved Victoria—You will recollect when first Albert (Queen Victoria's late Prince Consort) spoke to me about Alex (Princess Alexandra of Denmark) that he said, "We take the Princess, but not her relations." That might have seemed as if he wished for years without the death of our cousin of Denmark (King Frederick VII., who was succeeded by his nephew, King Christian IX., father of Princess Alexandra). That of a sudden gave us a Danish Princess, and the consequence of a Constitution (Incorporating Schleswig with Denmark) which even the late King had not sanctioned. CANADIANS HOLD U. S. RUM BOAT

Shelburne, N. B., April 23 (A.P.)—With 1,700 cases of Scotch whisky and rum aboard, and with the stars and stripes fluttering from her mast, the American steamer boat, which during the night was taken into custody by Shelburne customs officers following a report that she and the schooner St. Claire Theriault were "transferring cargo," was anchored today in Shelburne harbor pending instructions from Ottawa. The schooner, which was seized while being towed by it to the local harbor, from Jordan Bay, where the customs men noticed the two ships lying side by side. From shore one of the local law enforcers saw the St. Claire vanish into the night, her crew having cut the towing line.

$15,000,000 Harbor-Tunnel Bridge Bill Reported

PROVIDES FOR STATE PURCHASE

Logan, Jackson and Whitehead Among List of Proposed Incorporators

Incorporation of the Boston Harbor Bridge and Tunnel Company to construct a $15,000,000 toll bridge or tunnel between Boston and East Boston is authorized in a bill reported to the Legislature today by the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs.

Senator William J. Francis of Charlestown and Representative George A. Gilman of Boston dissented.

The incorporators are Charles E. Gifford and Paul J. Bortolone, William B. Fisher, former State Treasurer, James Jackson, General Edward L. Logan, Edward J. Sampson and Alexander Whitehead.

The bill provides that the company may construct a bridge or a tunnel of one or more tubes and that the Commonwealth may purchase all the fixed assets of the company upon one year's written notice to the company.

The company is authorized to charge tolls or collect rents for its use by persons or corporations, provided that the bridge, during times and hours to be established by the Boston Transit Department shall be open to foot passengers without payment of toll.

FOR TOLL CHARGES.

The tolls to be charged shall be subject to review by the Department of Public Utilities upon petition of the city of Boston or of twenty-five persons who customarily use bridge or tunnel. The bill provides, however, that the company shall not be required to charge a toll or rate less than that sufficient to pay the following:

1. At least two per cent. per year of the original cost of the property for account of depreciation and obsolescence.

2. At least two per cent. per year of the original cost on account of amortization of the funded debt.

3. At least ten per cent. of the original cost during the first five years of operation, plus per cent. during the second five years and eight per cent. thereafter. If in any year the company fails to earn the above amount, it shall be permitted to make up the deficit in the following year or years.

Brattleboro, Vt., April 23.—Mrs. Florence Spears, one of two Fitchburg, Mass., nurses who disappeared six months ago, was found at the home of her mother in Brattleboro, but she declared she has no knowledge of the whereabouts of her companion.

The second nurse, Mrs. Grace L. Barber, is said to have been paid $1,000 cash, an alimony, by her son and husband, Ralph Barber of Brattleboro, just before she vanished.

At the home of her mother, Mrs. Josephine Colburn, No. 5 Green street, Mrs. Spears said today that she left Mrs. Barber at the Greenfield, Mass., railroad station on last October 27, and that the last she saw of Mrs. Barber was when she was getting into Mr. Barber's automobile.

Aged Brockton Man Found at Home of Son After Hike in Three States

Brookline, April 23.—John Hall, seventy, who disappeared from home last Wednesday, is safe in Bedford, N. Y., after walking 300 miles with more than $1,000 in his pockets. A telephone message from his son, John Hall, Jr., informed relatives here of the aged man's arrival in Bedford.

The aged man walked out of the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Hager of No. 267 Hillside avenue, drew more than $1,000 from the Brockton National Bank and disappeared.

A widespread panic was begun by relatives and police. For a time it was thought he might return to his birthplace in Sweden and all passenger life of ships leaving Boston and New York were scanned.

While the aged man is now with his son in Bedford, N. Y., he started out to visit an estate where he had formerly worked. Shortly after the arrival of Hall in Bedford, however, he was notified.

Hall was not anxious when he reached Bedford. He had spent little of the money from the bank.

HOUSE VOTES AGAINST FULLER ON SALARY BILL

By an overwhelming vote the House today rejected Governor Fuller's change in the salary bill of officers of Concord and Fitchburg.

The bill provides an increase in the minimum salary from $1,200 to $1,700 a year and an increase in the maximum salary from $1,900 to $2,900. Governor Fuller recommended that the minimum salary be fixed at $1,400 and that there be no change in the maximum.

MANCHESTER PRIEST IS DYING IN SISTER'S HOME

Manchester, N. H., April 23.—Rev. John J. Lyons, P. R. of St. Anne's Church, is dying at the home of his sister, Miss Mary Lyons, in Manchester. Mr. Lyons, one of the best known of the New England clergy, has been ill for two weeks.

QUEEN'S COUNSEL

by Queen Victoria

ANY CHILD CAN HELP

THE desire to serve, to spend himself upon others, has remained with my young daughter, Beatrix, since those dreary war days. It fills those who know her with a sense of trust and confidence. They come to her for help, even the grown-ups seek her advice and practical assistance.

When quite small she would sometimes lead the officers of the Chancery

Installation in garden at St. Michael's to come for tea with her and a game of hide-and-seek in old Castle of Polish. It is a glorious place for such a game, being huge, of intricate architecture and rather dark.

Navy's thrill can be got out of those dimly lit rooms and mysterious corridors.

One officer was her special friend. A year later he married and Beatrix was asked to stand sponsor. Now in Rumania it is the custom to have sponsors for marriage as well as for baptism. It is an honor and "fidelity" if a member of the royal family consents to "crown the young pair." It implies future interest in the (last use hope) happy couple as well.

She lost sight of her officer friend for a time, for he served in the front during the war.

One day she received a desperate message that his wife and newborn babe were ill and would "Little Princess" help them?

The "Little Princess," though still quite a child, most certainly would.

She sent her own mother to meet the invalids at the station, found place for the sick woman in a hospital, interested the necessary doctors, found fresh milk daily for the tiny one, and every hour she could get away from her bed as she would sit at the bedside of the sufferer, nursing the baby and encouraging the distressed husband.

All this she did on her own initiative, thinking things out for herself, using her time, money and energy without stint.

I know no better character-builder for young folks than "spending" someone "letting them feel they have a responsibility toward some life outside their own.

Children are naturally generous and full of imagination. Give them real planning and exacting tasks, and they will not only do the sum of the other's happiness, but be a splendid lesson in self-reliance, power and resourcefulness. A child who has been such suffer from self-consciousness or shyness, but will, like Beatrix, go bravely forward and do its best.

DISPUTES DOYLE AS PSYCHIC

London, April 23 (I.N.S.)—Having just figured in denunciation of a well-known medium as an impostor, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, England's most prominent spiritualist, has himself been charged with "fraud" in exhibiting a photograph purporting to show the "spirit" of the late Lord Cornberner seated in his library on the day of his funeral.

The accusation was brought against Sir Arthur by A. A. Campbell Swinton, a consulting engineer and scientist, and nephew of Lord Cornberner.

REBUKED BY ACCUSER.

"I have inspected the photograph," said Swinton, "and what is supposed to be a spirit looks more like a medium. It might be a human form, although it has no legs, but to say it bears any likeness to Lord Cornberner is ridiculous. It might be anything or anybody and does not look much like a human form at all."

"I certainly think that as a spirit photograph this one is a fraud. I do not need to say that it is a photograph of the second Lord Cornberner, and denouncing themselves. I think it is possible a defect in a photographic plate."

Doyle's report.

Denying that there was any fraud connected with the photograph, Doyle said he obtained it from the present Lord Cornberner and received from a near relative the name of the woman who took it.

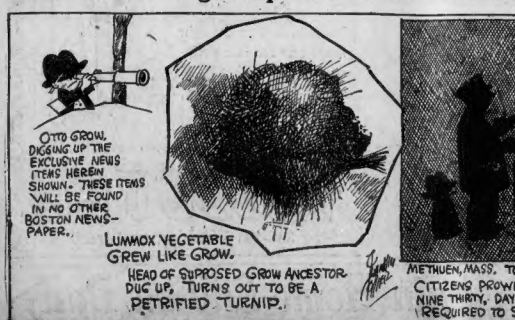

"The man," said Sir Arthur, "that this perfectly clear figure of a seated man is a defect in the plate is too absurd for argument, but it shows the extreme ingenuity to which our opponents will go in their frantic search for a material explanation."

"I was careful to point out that this figure was not uncommonly spirit of the deceased, but might be one of those mild forms or memory forms which do appear to exist."

JOHN MANVILLE FIRE LOSS REACHES $300,000

Waukegan, Ill., April 23 (A.P.)—The principal building of John Manville Inc., manufacturer of a huge structure containing the plant offices, was swept by fire today, with a loss estimated at $300,000 or more. The fire is believed to have originated in the laboratory.

BUDGET

Boston Evening American Offers Aid to Housewives in Planning Expenditures of Income

By MARTHA LEE

So many husbands and business girls have been bitten by the Budget Bug that I think we will devote today to their problems.

A budget of this kind is quite as important and just as helpful as the domestic budget. The principles involved are the same, shelter, food, clothing, operating, savings and personal. Even though the budgeter lives at home and pays board, one-fourth of this amount can be divided under shelter and one-quarter under food.

The food percentage (which is 25 per cent. of the total income) should include the lunch money down while the shelter 25 per cent. of the total income includes rent or cost of care.

I had a letter from one of our out-of-town readers last week asking for a budget for her daughter who is 17 years old. The girl is a very reasonable one and she figured the computation should amount to $450 a week. When the girl's town money and board are added to the $450 you can see that the little girl is paying too much for food and shelter.

If a good food supply and comfortable room furnishings are necessary factors for the budgeter, a husband or girl, she has few items to omit under the individual budget. A little extra money can be added for rent, since this usually includes heating, water and service.

Under operating, which gives one-fifth of the total income, one can have dry, service, stationery, postage, toilet articles, shoe shine, maintenance of car, and all other expenses. Clothing takes 15 per cent. of the total income, although sometimes it is better to allow a little more when it is an expensive type of cloth.

It is more businesslike, however, to make a definite allowance for food and shelter. If mother doesn't want to accept it, lay the sum aside and contribute it to the family as income in whatever way seems most desirable. This gives you a definite figure to keep.

own dreadful loss but Albert (Earl Edward, Prince of Wales) and Alix forward; he and his wife are constantly before the public in every imaginable shape and character, and fill entirely the public mind.

The English are very personal; to continue to love people they see them, and even to love them: this shows itself by the wish to get something that belongs or belonged to them; it must be palpable. The state has even given the young couple great influence on all classes, and is even calculated to influence the Cabinet, and to strengthen the Opposition, which would be quite poisonous on that question without the strong popular feeling.

Vicky (Queen Victoria's daughter of Prussia, eldest daughter of Queen Victoria) little dreamt, in rejecting a charming Prussian, that she would become a source of difficulty for England, and perhaps the cause of a popular war against Prussia. I have never seen her, but the great majority in England would give a vote with Prussia, and even buying the support of the French by conceding to them the left bank of the Rhine, representing a war too late.

Over your devoted Uncle, Leopold II.

Peril From France

Extracts from the Queen's Journal: WINDSOR CASTLE, 21st June, 1894.—Saw Lord Palmerston (Prime Minister) as he came to the castle, and found him very cheerful, wonderfully disinterested, and fully alive to the extreme danger of the situation.

The greatest danger he saw from France joining us was dragging us into a war, in which we would claim the Rhine, and possibly even the whole of Italy.

He also entirely agreed with me that it was very doubtful whether we could do anything, for nothing but naval assistance could be given, and that only for three months. Would that not therefore be more humiliating for England than doing nothing at all? He felt this very strongly, and said the danger was the most obstinate people he knew.

Queen Victoria to Viscount Palmerston.

WINDSOR CASTLE, 21st June, 1894.—The Queen has heard with deep concern that the reports that circulation of the proposed of the French to take by the vote of the mixed populations would be accepted have been frustrated by the total refusal of everything by the Danes.

Lord Palmerston entirely agreed with the Queen yesterday that no stone should be left unturned to try and prevent the resumption of hostilities, and moderation the Danes might still be tried, as the German Powers would all agree to that.

But what can be done if Denmark insist on the inadvisable refusal every proposal but the one that we know the other parties never could be brought to pass.

Lord Russell's proposal, which was not yet sanctioned by the Government, was to give material aid (merely by sea) to Denmark, if Sterling silver, beautifully chased, green setting. Oval and rectangular shapes. Can be told from the "real thing."

IT'S ALMOST IMPOSSIBLE to find solid gold baby pins for less than $4.50. But for perseverance and discovered some for $1.50, 3 of them, with gossamer chains for the back of baby's dresses. Protected points; the ideal gift for his Majesty.

LORD CHESTERFIELD said that a gentleman was known by her stationery. For the week only (no note or phone at once) special sale of one of the lines of paper with envelopes and ink, $1.69. Choice of white or colored paper; 3 letter monogram stamped on each. Many styles.

ON THE LAPEL of your tailored coat or suit is the proper place to wear new rhinestone initials. Oblong, glittering with gems, they're truly stunning. Look well on your hat, too. $1.00. Be a waking advertisement that you know the latest wrinkle.

IF YOU CRAVE A SLAVE necklace, be sure to get a three strand one. Green, yellow and white gold. Joan of Arc's suit of mail is said to be the origin of the idea. Very becoming to the long, thin face. You see them on the Avenue every day.

FEED YOUR FACE with deep tissue builder. Rebuilds impoverished tissues, strengthens and firms sagging muscles. Excellent for a thin, aging face. Preserves the freshness of your skin. $1.00. (I know one woman who buys a pound pot at a time!) Good for wrinkles, too.

WHO DOESN'T LOVE an end table? Two-toned, finished in harmonizing shades of mahogany, only $2.95. (No mail orders, by the way.) Stunning in the well appointed living room. Don't you want a little end table in your home?

DON'T FAINT when I tell you that a famous brand of powder in compact form, formerly $1.00, is now selling for 50c. Unbelievably thin cases fit well the new slim purses. All shades of powder, including evening and ochre. Truly, here's cause for celebration.

HAIR IS NATURE'S LOVELY FRAME for the face. Take care of it carefully healthy hair condition prevents formation of dandruff and retards premature graying. Certain hair tonic invigorates the scalp and hair. Stimulates circulation; keeps scalp elastic. $1.50.

AND A BOON to the plump is a wonderful elastic strap reducer. If you're the kind of ladies that makes it embarrassing to wear short skirts, take this tip! Made of washable silk, reduces from one-quarter to three-quarters of an inch in a month. Only $3.00—worth it in beauty gained.

GREEN GLASS is the season's best bet for wedding gifts. Like a water lily on a pad is a great big salad bowl on a salad dish. Can be used separately. Big enough to serve the salad at a formal luncheon. $5.00. The bride will oh and ah with delight. Salad plates to match at another shop. Perfect replicas of a good lettuce leaf.

DON'T FORGET it's a pleasure to help you. Just drop me a line and I'll do my level best. Please enclose L.O.O.S. stamp with your letter, and print your name and address plainly.

"Down With Lodge, Up With Lenroot!"

An Echo From Symphony Hall

Conspicuous by its absence was any mention of the name of the late Henry Cabot Lodge at the Republican rally staged at Symphony Hall one week ago tomorrow.

Yet this was the rally which formally opened the Republican campaign in Massachusetts to fill the vacancy in the Senate caused by the death of Senator Lodge, acclaimed by the Nation the most distinguished statesman a New England State has sent to Washington since the days of Daniel Webster.

Conspicuous by its prominence on the program as the chief speaker of the evening, selected for that distinction by the Republican State Committee, was the very much alive Irving L. Lenroot, of Wisconsin.

Of all the Republican Senators Senator Lodge regarded Senator Lenroot as his most formidable opponent in the fight which Senator Lodge organized and led to his dying day to save the United States from being plunged into the League of Nations, either through the front door of the Covenant, or the trap door of the League Court protocol.

That is why Senator Lenroot was conspicuous by his prominence at Symphony Hall the other evening, and why the name of Senator Lodge was even more conspicuous by its absence.

Apparently the gentlemen in charge of the Symphony Hall meeting are of opinion that "Down With Lodge, the Nationalist, and up with Lenroot, the Internationalist," will make a vote-getting slogan in the coming campaign in Massachusetts.

No doubts it will among the Internationalists, who are still striving to get the United States into the League of Nations, either through the front door of the Covenant, or the trap door of the Court.

But the question is have the plain people of the State, of Lexington, and Concord, and Bunker Hill, really become Internationalists?

If they have they will give next November a vote of confidence to the leadership of Lenroot, the Internationalist, by way of repudiating the advice and counsel in foreign relations of Washington, and Jefferson, and Hamilton, of the early days, and rebuking the leadership in later days of Cleveland, and Roosevelt and Lodge.

Opportunity's Own Century

Rosa Khan, who started in life a servant like Murat, is now Shah of Persia. Long ago it was shown that this is the century of opportunity in America. There is apparently a chance for a successful young man in modern Asia, too.

In Italy Mussolini, a private during the war, now not only rules his country, but occupies a position in the world's eye similar to that once held by Roosevelt.

Lenin came out of nowhere in a sealed car, took charge of Russia, and is now master—at least among Communists, Clemenceau, Poch and Hindenburg were old men of somewhat limited distinction when the war gave them their chances.

In this country Henry Ford, in only a little more than a score of years, has piled up the largest fortune in the world's history; not a dollar has a stain. He says it isn't dollars at all, but property. Clarence Dillon's banking position has been attained since the second decade began. Adolph Zukor, probably the world's most powerful amusement director, only became prominent a few years ago.

Greatest of all has been the rise of our country in this century of opportunity. At the beginning, it was apparently negligible. Now it is America versus the world, with America, to believe European observers, having all the best of it.

Selection

Emerson tried to read only great books, and would not read any book unless it was at least a year old. By that device he gave the ephemera time to be forgotten and exercised his mind only on things worthy of it.

Emerson's rule would not suit all of us, but we could all take a suggestion from it. Likewise in the theatre, few of us would care to be restricted to classics; moreover, if we let a play go by at its first production we may not have another chance at it, whereas the book is always in the library. But to the stage, we may apply this rule of Emerson, that it is, indeed, a limited player who knows only the product of his own little span of life.

WHEN FATHER TIME CALLS FOR HIS TOLL

You are fighting the demands that time makes on your system. You try to bluff yourself into believing that you can do as you did ten years ago. You think that you can stand just as much and recover just as quickly.

So you fail to take the rest you need because you don't want to get into the habit of it.

For several days you have not been up to the standard required in your job as a result of inefficient sleep.

You might just as well admit it, old man, you can't fight Father Time.

You will find it necessary to take more and more time to recuperate from the drain of a hard-working day or from dissipation.

Unless you are naturally lazy, you do not feel the need of rest except when your body and mind need relaxation.

You cannot deceive Nature.

Lodge on the League Court

By Rt. Rev. Wm. Lawrence

Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts.

(The) Republic Lodge was so earnestly opposed to the entrance of his country into the so-called World Court clearly that in a biographical sketch of the Senator, of which Bishop Lawrence is the author, and from which the following extracts are taken by the courteous permission of Republic (Lodge) Company, publishers of this enlightening and entertaining little book.)

The peaceful settlement of international disputes through arbitration and through courts of justice, applying to nations the same principles of law and equity which are applied to individuals, has always been the policy of this country.

The Wandering Boys

"WHERE ARE OUR WANDERING BOYS TO NIGHT?"

SPANKING PARENTS NOW ADVOCATED

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A SPEAKER in Chicago recommends spanking parents instead of children.

"For," says he, "the youth of today is all right. It has its temptations and shortcomings, but it is far ahead of the youth of any generation the world has known."

Two other men of prominence have echoed these sentiments recently.

Says Harry Emerson Fosdick, noted New York preacher: "The younger generation does not so much need critics as it needs examples. One of the troubles with this much berated younger generation is not primarily with this younger generation at all, but with the older generation."

And, adds the District Attorney of Los Angeles: "The big factor behind this youthful crime wave is the American home. Parents who wear immodest clothing, smoke and drink, are responsible for the growing tendency toward crime on the part of youth. Parents do not set the right kind of an example for their children."

These are criticisms that are old but inescapable. The most tenacious fallacy of the human race has been the belief that the "do as I say, not as I do," instruction will work.

The hard part about parenthood is not taking care of the helpless infant, but setting a worthy example for the maturing child.

A cornstalk dies when the ear is produced; a man lives on after the child is grown.

Except for inculcating helpful knowledge and conduct in the children there seems little reason, in nature's plan, for the parents living on after the children are able to care for themselves.

A serious and wholesome attitude toward life is not much more likely to spring from a home environment of shallow, thoughtless, pleasure seeking, than a naturism is to grow from a pumpkin seed.

It is unreasonable to expect modern young people to obey laws simply because they are laws, when they see their elders break enactments merely on the grounds that they are "not in sympathy" with them.

It is unreasonable to condemn the younger generation for spending few evenings at home when a very small percent of the older folks are at home on a Saturday evening from choice.

Bitter criticism is always half defensive. It may well be that the amount of criticism heaped upon modern youth is indicative of a realization of failure upon the part of the older generation.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Labor is worth while only if enjoyed, and all kinds of labor are enjoyable to the philosophic mind.

When nothing is enjoyed, then there is greater waste.

Render unto all men their due, but remember thou art also a man.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

COULD you get along with your wife if she were your stenographer?

(Would you still be crazy about your husband if he were your employer?)

There's a new law which Judge Graham of San Francisco has set passing in the matrimonial courts. Twice has Judge Graham recognized the warring Goodmans and persuaded them that they didn't want a divorce after all. But on March 12 back came Lillian again.

"It's no use, Judge," said she, "we can't make a go of it. Jack has too fierce a temper. A saint couldn't stay married to him."

"Well all right," says Jack, who doesn't seem overly enthusiastic over further matrimony himself. "Give us the divorce, Judge, and salary in my store."

So there you are, and now what are you willing to bet on the outcome?

Will these two people, who have quarreled white married, find friendship and understanding as business partners?

Ladies in General

Not knowing Jack and Lillian, I can't pass on their particular case. But speaking for the ladies in general, I'm here to say the most of us would rather a chance to stop being wives and start being business partners.

"Err!" I hear some indignant gentlemen cry, "that's what comes of it!"

The Locomotive Engineer

A Fine Type of the American Mechanic and Citizen.

Raising HIS Pay Wouldn't Hurt

Courtesy of General Motors Corp.

THIS IS THE MAN THAT REALLY RUNS THE RAILROAD—THE LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEER

This man carries the millions of people that, rushing to and fro in the country, are to the nation what the life blood is to your body.

This engineer, driving the powerful machine that he knows and takes care of, has devoted his youth and all of his life to gaining the knowledge that he now possesses. HIS knowledge means YOUR SAFETY. HIS trustworthiness means that the railroads are run with no little loss of life. It depends on him.

Do you think the railroads would make any mistake if they raised this man's salary?

Do you believe the public would object, even if they had to pay a little more, if they were sure that the money went to raise the locomotive engineer's pay?

He has worked up to his place, and there is for him NOTHING BEYOND IT in railroading.

The modest salary that he draws is all he can have for to educate his children, take care of himself and his wife in their old age.

Old age means NO WORK for the locomotive engineer. Public protection must come first. Thousands of good men are laid off—"retired"—when they are at their very best, because a definite age limit is necessary.

The big railroad men SHOULD NOT, and the best among them DO NOT, grudge the railroad workers fair pay, increased as often as better conditions, greater prosperity, greater traffic and greater earnings make it possible.

Unfortunately the railroads are controlled too much by financiers that are not railroad men, but MERELY DIVIDEND COLLECTORS.

They watch the ticker, they naturally like to see the prices of their stocks go up.
